FOR SALE.

The Warrenton Female College is now offered for sale, on reasonable terms. This College has been in successful operation, for over twelve years, and, during that time, it has earned a reputation as an Institution of learning, second to none in N. C.

The location is such as to warrant a full attendance of pupils, being very accessible from any point, especially the Eastern portions of N. C. and Va.

The Committee, who have been empowered to make sale of this property, deem it unnecessary to say more of this Institution as its character for a high grade of scholarship, and the elevated standard of morals inculcated, under the eye and supervision of its late President, E. E. Parham, is already well known.

The society in which this College is located is known to be equal to any in the South.

There is now a sufficiency of Buildings and other Conveniences attached to this Real Estate, to conduct a large and flourishing school. The premises contain about SIXTY ACRES of Land a material portion of which is within the Corporation. This, with all or a part of the furniture, &c., belonging to the same, can be purchased with the land and buildings. This property will be offered privately for sale until Wednesday the 3rd day October next, and, if not then sold, will be on that day sold, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

Any person or party wishing to examine the property will be shown it by, E. E. Parham, the present occupant, or by any one or more of the Committee.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, SEATON GALES, Editors.

Thursday Evening, July 19, 1866.

FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS.
NO FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

FOR GOVERNOR,
JONATHAN WORTH, OF RANDOLPH.

Remember that the election for the ratification of the amended Constitution of North Carolina, will be held on the 2d., 3rd. and 4th of August next, throughout the State.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For Daily, per year,	$10 00
" six months,	5 00
" one month,	1 00
" two months,	2 00
Semi-Weekly, per year,	5 00
Weekly, per year,	3 00

Our terms are invariably in advance. Money may be sent us by the Rail Road conductors or the Express Companies.

"But Gov. Worth not only turns out the President's appointees because they are loyal, and puts his own partizans in their places, but through his organ, the Sentinel, he defies the President! That paper, in its issue of July 11, speaking for Gov. Worth in relation to the corporations in which he has made so many changes, says the President has no right to interfere in civil matters in this State, and that, "so far as the authority of the President extends in the affairs of this State, Gov. Worth would consult his wishes with as much alacrity as Gov. Holden, but Gov. Worth must not be expected to yield to any one claims of authority not sanctioned by the Constitution and the laws of the land." What next? The President is defied by the Gover nor's organ; he will next be denounced.

"Now, in the name of all the gods at once,
On what strange meat hath this, our Cæsar, fed,
That he hath grown so great!"

Standard.

The above is wholly a gratuity—a discovery which no one else would have made, except Gov. Holden and those of a like temper. He, alone, and his peculiar friends, are anxious to make the people of North Carolina feel and believe, that they are still living under a harsh, rigorous military government—one which has but little regard to laws or Constitutions, and that President Johnson is swaying the sceptre of a despot. We hold to no such views either of President Johnson or of the actual state of things, excepting in so far as the spirit and designs of the Radical Congress are concerned.—If that body, and the Radical party, could do so, we have no doubt they would hold in complete vassalage, forever, or at least until they became entirely assimmilated to them in temper, spirit and principle, the whole people of the South.

Now, we did not speak for Gov. Worth, but for ourselves. We gave no intimation that we were speaking for him. Our remark bore directly upon the point, that, whatever might have been deemed necessary, as to Executive interference with State affairs, prior to the issue of President Johnson's peace proclamation, since that period no such necessity existed, nor had the President exhibited such a disposition. With Gov. Holden, the President's wish was law, but, as to Gov. Worth, he is bound by the law of the land, whether found in the Constitution or the statute books. He is known to be a law-abiding man, and hence we said that "Gov. Worth must not be expected to yield to any one claims of authority not sanctioned by the Constitution and the laws of the land." Where is the defiance in that?

Dr. R. J. Powell.

Gov. Holden, in his last issue, speaks very kindly of Dr. Powell, late State Agent for North Carolina under the Provisional government, and commends him to the consideration of our people, who have business at Washington city. Dr. P., we have no doubt, is an obliging man. His services are no longer needed as State Agent; but, as he has leisure from his official duties to attend to other matters, there is a manifest propriety, when he is called upon by our citizens to attend to any business, that he should always be paid for his services.

WHO HE IS.—We are indebted to a correspondent of a New York journal for information, which we have vainly sought for elsewhere, as to the personal identity of Mr. Byron Lafflin, who signed the call for Ex. P. G. Hamilton's "Southern Loyalist Convention," as a citizen of North Carolina. It seems that he is a New Yorker and resides in Herkimer county. He came South a few months ago, as Deputy Marshal, or something of that kind, and, it is said, has been particularly busy in proceedings for the confiscation of property. Exit Lafflin!

THE LADIES' HOME.—This is the title of a handsome and attractive weekly periodical, devoted to the varied interests of Southern womanhood, and published at Atlanta, Ga., by Thos. S. Powell,—that accomplished and talented lady, Mrs. L. Virginia French, being the Editress. Among the contributors we notice the name of one of our most gifted Raleigh ladies. We do not hesitate to commend this periodical to the patronage of our people, as an excellent literary and representative publication. The terms are $5 per annum in advance.

NEW EDUCATIONAL BOOKS.—Messrs. Richardson & Co., Publishers and Booksellers, 540 Broadway, N. Y., will soon present to the public a series of text-books for Schools and Universities. The authors are all Southern men, mostly Professors in the University of Virginia. The illustrations represent Southern scenes and the books are free from those objectionable political teachings and historical inaccuracies to be found in most of the text-books now in general use. The enterprise deserves success. Mr. Jas. N. Edmundston, of this State, is Agent for the firm, and will probably take an early opportunity to canvass for the publications.

The Radical Caucus.

As a significant and fearful sign of the perils of the times, we give the report in full of the extra-ordinary proceedings of Republican Congressmen on Wednesday night last. A subsequent meeting was held on Saturday night, at which much of the same spirit as marked the first meeting was exhibited, although a resolution was finally adopted consenting to the adjournment of Congress in the early part of next week.

This report reads very much like a history of the proceedings of the infamous Jacobin club at Paris. No political conclave, since the days of Robespierre and Marat, ever exhibited such turbulence and ruffianism. In brutal and revolutionary threats, these Radicals, at this caucus, passed far beyond the boundary which divides loyalty from treason. We need only refer to the following samples, which are not exaggerations, for, as will be seen, they are quoted from the authorized official report:

Mr. Hotchkiss, of New York, stated that the meeting was called to prevent the President from removing Radicals from office during the Congressional recess, and that, in his own State, a "head-butcher" stood ready to strike. Mr. Farnsworth, of Illinois, wanted Congress to remain in session until December, so as to support its friends in office. He denounced the President as a traitor, and believed that he was ready for any measure, however desperate, which would put the government into the hands of the rebels. His lips blistering with this slander, Mr. Farnsworth gave way to Mr. Garfield, of Ohio, who announced the resignation of Postmaster-General Dennison, and urged the Radicals to strip to the waist and fight the battle out. Mr. Boutwell, of Massachusetts, asserted that a conspiracy was on foot to put the government into the hands of the rebels, and that the President was a party to it. He had no doubt they contemplated a resort to force. He believed Andrew Johnson to be just as thoroughly a traitor as Jefferson Davis and a madman in league with rebels. Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, said "Amen" to Mr. Boutwell. He termed the Philadelphia Convention a conspiracy of traitors, got up by the President for the purpose of putting rebels into power. After a brief debate concerning Mr. Raymond, Thad. Stevens rose and endorsed what had been said by Mr. Ingersoll, as he was unable to invent stronger terms of denunciation. Mr. Lane, of Indiana, who was heartily applauded, announced that a million of soldiers were ready to rush to Washington to sustain Congress against the tyranny of the President!

And yet, quoth the Standard, the President and Congress are equally "honest and patriotic" in their intentions!

MUTE.—We regret that our Ex. Provisional Governor will not deign to enlighten us as to his views concerning the approaching Philadelphia Convention. This is a subject upon which every man should not only have an opinion, but should speak it out.

QUERE: Is this our neighbor's quandary:—To oppose the Convention, would displease the President, who is known earnestly to favor it, and who looks to its action and deliberations to strengthen and uphold his hands in his conflict with the Radicals. To approve the Convention would be to incur the anathema of Thad. Stevens, who declared, in the late Radical caucus, that "no one who favors that Convention can have any fellowship with the Union party!"

"Me miserable! whither shall I fly?
Which way I fly is"—bother. "Myself am"
—Bothered! "And in each deep a lower deep,
Still threatening to devour me,
Opens wide!"

HERMITAGE NURSERIES.—Messrs. Allan and Johnson, Richmond, have established extensive nurseries upon the Hermitage road, near that city. The soil is admirably adapted to the growth of young trees, and their varieties have been carefully selected with special reference to the soil and climates of the Southern States. All who purchase from them may rely upon getting good seed, cuttings, plants, shrubs, &c.

THE CLEAVELAND ARGUS.—We have received the first No. of the Cleaveland Argus, at Shelby, N. C., printed by Messrs. Hayden & Nelson, and edited by G. W. Whitfield, Esq. We take it for granted, it is truly conservative and advocates President Johnson's policy, and therefore place it on our exchange list. We wish it good success.

CABARRUS COUNTY.—A large and respectable meeting of the citizens of Cabarrus was held on Tuesday, for the purpose of appointing delegates to a District Convention. The meeting was addressed in an able and patriotic manner by Hon. Z. B. Vance, Gen. Rufus Barringer and Col. J. M. Long.

THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.—Meetings will be held in Halifax and New Hanover Counties, on Saturday next, for the purpose of endorsing the proposed Philadelphia Convention and appointing delegates to District Conventions for the designation of representatives.

GEORGIA AND THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.—We have been shown private letters concerning this Convention from two of the most distinguished and honored politicians of Georgia. One of them—a statesman of great political sagacity—strongly urges the sending of delegates from Georgia. The other thinks that we ought to adhere to the policy of the President, and if Andrew Johnson favors the convention we ought by all means to be represented in it.—Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer.

Among the arrivals at the Rockbridge Baths, one of the most pleasant summer resorts in Virginia, we notice the name of our beloved old chieftain, General Lee.—Staunton Spectator.

Why, quoth Raymond, if we are to remain enemies, did we stop the war? While our armies were in the field we could have completed the subjugation of the South.

It is thought that Colonel Cloud or Governor Crowford, of Kansas, will succeed the late Senator Lane in the Senate.

For the Sentinel.

The South and the Negro.

MESSRS EDITORS:—There never was a viler slander, than that which charges upon the Southern people a disposition to oppress or ill treat the negro population. Through the influence of this slander, invented and kept up for selfish purposes by interested persons, both Northern and Southern, many in the North, no doubt conscientiously, believe, that the "Freedmen's Bureau" is indispensable here in the South, in order to protect the blacks, in their rights. If the conservative and fair-minded portion of the people of the North could know the real state of facts, they would be clamorous for the abolishment of the Freedmen's Bureau, and would pronounce it a curse to the negro himself. Strange as it may seem, yet it is a fact patent to every one of observation, that there is a growing disposition among certain persons here in the South, to court, and cozen, and cringe to, the negroes. This is most apparent in the towns, where the negroes are most improvident with their money, and spend it most freely. Gain is at the bottom of it. Professional men do it, to get their practice—merchants do it, to get their custom—preachers do it, to get them within the pale of their respective Churches. Of course it is not meant to make a sweeping application to all of these classes.—The statement is made with reference to those only, to whom it applies. They alone will take exception to it. The tendencies of the times seem to be towards extremes. Let any one listen to the conversation of Southern salons, and to the discussions of deliberative bodies, whether political, religious, or social—and he will hear more of sickly sentimentality about the moral duty of the white race, to protect and to elevate, and improve the morals of, "this poor unfortunate race," than he would hear in Boston. He will hear a great deal more about the duty, and importance, of educating the black children, than the white children. All this originates in a selfish desire to use the negro, for their own selfish purposes; but still it proves that the negro needs no special legislation from abroad, to protect him, as long as he has so many benevolent admirers at home.—These last never discovered the negro was a poor, unfortunate and oppressed being, until after he received his freedom, and had some money to spend. The sharper, who wishes to swindle his neighbor, is very indignant at the outrage, when some one else swindles him first.

The writer is not to be understood as complaining that ample protection is extended to the negro population in the South. By no means. He is a strong advocate for securing to them every right, privilege and protection, provided by the law of the land. His object is to show that no "Freedmen's Bureau" is necessary to attain these ends. He ventures the assertion that the negro is better protected, and treated with more consideration, and more thoroughly screened from punishment for crime, by certain classes and influences alluded to, than are the poor white people of the South. Those who would encourage the negroes to congregate in towns, and who would protect and encourage them in their insolence, are the worst enemies not only to the South but to the negroes themselves. Without reference to the manner or the motives of emancipation, he looks upon it as an accomplished fact, with which the Southern people have to deal; that it is the part of wisdom to hereafter adjust the relations between the two races in such way as shall be most conducive to the welfare of both, and to the general industrial prosperity of the whole country. He regards the negroes as being free, and entitled to all their right under the laws of the land.

The reason why he dwells more earnestly on this subject is, first, to show there is no necessity for "Freedmen's Bureaus," and "civil rights" laws, in order to protect the freedmen against oppressions which do not exist; because there are influences at work growing out of a rivalry of selfish interests, even among Southern people themselves, in addition to that general sense of justice pervading the country, which operate to their protection. Secondly, he despises all sorts of cant, and when cant is indulged in for the purpose of effecting selfish ends, it deserves to be exposed. Thirdly, the congregation of blacks in towns is destructive to their best interests and happiness. Their distribution among the several districts, and their employment in agriculture, are most promotive of their comfort and prosperity. In the towns "they are the victims of their passions through dissipation. They are the victims of disease by means of filth and exposure. They are the victims of want and destitution through the greed of sharpers.

X.

The Boston Post sketches those members of the Cabinet who are understood to have something of the brimstone odor of radicalism about them. Mr. SPEED, it says, is a man of small talents and but little professional learning. Mr. HARLAN is a tricky partisan; cunning in promoting his selfish purposes, but no more of a wise statesman in office than a meek Christian in the pulpit. Mr. STANTON pushed from the Confederate breakers, where he first launched his boat, to the opposite shore, and as soon as he was upon firm ground, was in favor of hanging his own crew as pirates. His manners are uncouth—his temper revengeful—his action the promptings of envy and prejudice, and his ambition a labor to sink superiors to his own level. A great blusterer, with arrogance only equalled by his conceit of his own importance. The trinity can be spared without fear of damage to the public interest or depression to the spirits of the people.

THE PROMISED ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS, next Monday, the 23d instant, affords much gratification to the country.

It has been the special and engrossing business of this Congress to promote discord among the people, to protract and aggravate sectional dissensions, to obstruct that natural course of events which tended to the restoration of harmony and prosperity. Were they to remain longer in session it would be for the purpose of producing alarm and mischief. No one would be suprised at any rash, unconstitutional, and irritating measure which might suddenly emanate from the secret cabals of the Radical leaders. The country will breathe more freely in their absence. Let them, as one of their most considerate advisers said, go home and there fight the President. Let them disband and enter upon a guerilla warfare against conservative men and measures.—Nat. Intelligencer.

A SLIGHT ERROR.—We stated a few days ago that Congressmen were about to vote themselves $4,000 a year and mileage at the rate of 10 cents a mile. We fell into a small error for which we beg pardon. The sum proposed is $8,000 instead of $4,000. We bow humbly before the magnitude of the robbing, and have no more to say, except that, as every member considers himself at least as good as the President, why not make the salary $25,000 a year? They had as well be whipped for stealing a sheep as for stealing a lamb. The people will avenge the larceny in either event.

Some public-spirited citizens of Philadelphia have established a free bath house in that city for the general benefit.

Proceedings of the Republican Caucus.

WHAT WAS SAID, AND BY WHOM, OF THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.

THE PRESIDENT DENOUNCED AS GREAT A TRAITOR AS DAVIS.

A TERRIBLE TIME ABOUT THE POOR OFFICE HOLDERS.

Special despatches to the New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, July 15., 1866.

A caucus of Republican members of Congress was held on Wednesday evening.

Gen. Banks, of Massachusetts, was chairman, and Mr. Ferry, of Michigan, secretary. The caucus, so far as the House was concerned, was quite full, but only eight Senators were present.

Mr. Hotchkiss, of New York, said that the meeting was called at the request of himself and others, and its object was to have an interchange of views as to the best course to be pursued in regard to the rumored removal of office-holders by the President. He had no doubt that such removal was intended as soon as Congress should adjourn, and in his own State a licensed "head butcher" had already been appointed, and stood at the door ready to strike. He demed it the duty of Congress to stand by its friends, and to make any sacrifice necessary to keep them in office. He thought Congress should remain in session, so as to prevent removals.

Mr. Cobb, of Wisconsin, offered a resolution declaring every one present to be in honor bound to act in Congress and elsewhere in accordance with the decisions of the caucus, but this was voted down. A resolution of secrecy was adopted, on motion of Mr. Cobb.

Mr. Ashley, of Ohio, expressed his concurrence with what had been said of the necessity of taking some action on the subject of removals. He thought Congress should take a recess instead of adjourning.

Mr. Farnsworth, of Illinois, then offered a resolution declaring that Congress would remain in session until December. He said that any party who would not stand by its friends ought to go down, and we must stand by the men now in office. He thought, too, it might be necessary for Congress to take other action before next session to prevent the accomplishment of schemes to restore the rebels to power. He believed the President was a traitor to the party and the country, and that he was ready for any measure, however desperate, which would put the Government into the hands of the rebels. What his schemes were he did not know, but he had been told on high authority that Mr. Seward had said that this Congress would never meet again until the Southern States were restored to (all) their rights of representation in Congress.

Mr. Hale, of New York, asked for his authority for this statement.

Mr. Farnsworth replied that he had heard it from several parties. On being pressed for some authority, he said he should not give it, and several members around said, "don't give it," Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, saying he had no doubt Mr. Seward had said it.

Mr. Hale said, in the absence of any authority, he did not believe Mr. Seward had ever said anything of the kind.

Mr. Shellabarger, of Ohio, concurred in the necessity of taking precautions, but he was not certain as to the best way of doing it. He offered a substitute for Mr. Farnsworth's resolution, appointing a committee of five (afterwards increased to nine, three of the Senate and six of the House,) to report on the subject at a future caucus.

Mr. Garfield, of Ohio, endorsed what had been said about the treachery of the President, and the necessity of adopting some measures of prevention. But he thought it important that members should go home and fight out the battle before the people. The Cabinet, he was happy to say, was already broken up. He was glad to announce that Postmaster-General Dennison had resigned, and would have nothing more to do with the Administration, and he hoped that other members of the Cabinet would follow his example. He thought they should strip to the waist and fight the battle out on this line.

Mr. Boutwell, of Massachusetts, said he thought we would be obliged to do a great many other things to save the country from the danger that threatened it. He believed it to be beyond all doubt that a conspiracy was on foot to put the Government into the hands of rebels, and the President was a party to it. He had no doubt they contemplated a resort to force because it was in the logic of events that they should do so. He believed Andrew Johnson to be just as thoroughly a traitor as Jeff. Davis, and that nothing could save the country from destruction but the most prompt and effective preparations for every emergency. He believed an attempt would be made to force the rebels into Congress, and the Philadelphia Convention was part of the scheme. The battle, in effect, had already begun, and if resistance was not made, the President would take possession of the capitol. Any such attempt must and would be resisted by force. (Mr. Boutwell's remarks were loudly applauded.)

Mr. Harding, of Illinois, doubted the wisdom of going to the people on such an issue. He was in favor of taking precautions against the President, but he did not wish it understood that the Union party made the holding of office so important a consideration as the action proposed would make it.

Mr. Ingersoll, of Illinois, denounced President Johnson as a traitor—a madman—in league with Rebels and Copperheads, and insisted on measures of precaution against his schemes.—He said he had no personal interest or feeling in the matter. He had fought out his battle with the President, and had won it. But he would as soon trust a bull in a china-shop as Andrew Johnson in possession of power.

Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, said "Amen" to Mr. Boutwell, and said that many as were the letters he received from his constituents on the tariff, they were few in number compared with those he received exhorting him to stand by Congress in its measures for the salvation of the country. He denounced the Philadelphia Convention as a conspiracy of traitors, and said he believed the President had got it up for the purpose of destroying the Union party and of putting Rebels and Copperheads into power. The rebel newspapers North and South were in favor of it for that reason.

The President, as is well known, regards every bill passed by Congress, while eleven States are unrepresented, as null and void, so that nothing short of the admission of the rebel members will satisfy him.

Mr. Raymond said: As to the gentleman's assertion that the President regards everything Congress has done in the absence of eleven States as null and void, I beg to ask him how he reconciles that statement with the fact that the President has signed nearly every bill Congress has passed?

Mr. Kelly.—That is one of the President's many inconsistencies.

Mr. Kasson, of Iowa, favored Mr. Shellabarger's substitute, though he did not concur in some of the views expressed. He feared that the Union party would be weakened, rather than aided, by the measures proposed to be taken.

Mr. Hotchkiss, of New York, and Mr. Hubbard, of Connecticut, spoke in advocacy of the resolution and in denunciation of the President.

The resolution of Mr. Shellabarger was then adopted.

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution declaring it to be the duty of every Union man to denounce the Philadelphia Convention and render it odious to the people.—He said he wanted the lines distinctly drawn between the friends and enemies of the Union cause, and wanted it distinctly understood that no one who favored the Philadelphia Convention could have any fellowship with the Union party. He did not agree with the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Harding) in his views, but did agree with his colleague (Mr. Ingersoll).

Mr. Brownwell, of Illinois, followed in favor of this resolution—denouncing the President, and saying we ought to revise all the laws under which offices were created which the President can fill—and that salaries should be abolished, and other means taken to render the power of appointment useless in his hands. Congress could sit all summer—we were paid by the year, and it made no odds to us.

Mr. Lane (Senator) of Indiana, followed in a very exciting speech, demanding the enactment of stringent laws to restrain and curtail the power of the President—saying he was ready to sit all summer, if necessary, at the point of the bayonet; that if a victim was wanted, he was ready; and declaring that a million of soldiers would flock to the Capitol to sustain Congress against the tyranny of the President. He branded all Union men who support the President as actuated by a desire for office, and as belonging to the "bread and butter brigade." His remarks were received with applause.

Mr. Hale, of New York, ridiculed Senator Lane's excited remarks, and thought they were not called for by the facts of the case.

Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, branded President Johnson as a rebel and a traitor, and the Philadelphia Convention as a conspiracy—denouncing all who favored it in any way.

Mr. Anderson, of Missouri, concurred in denouncing the President and the Philadelphia Convention, and all who supported or favored either. They were traitors to the party and the country. He spoke at some length, and with warmth.

The resolution was then adopted, Mr. Hale, of New York, alone, voting No, and Mr. Raymond understanding that the resolution was partially, at least, aimed at him, stating that he declined to vote at all.

General Banks then announced the appointment of the Committee of Nine: Senators Morrill, of Maine; Chandler, of Michigan; Nye, of Nevada; and Representatives Colfax, of Indiana; Farnsworth, of Illinois; Hotchkiss, of New York; Stevens, of Pennsylvania; Garfield, of Ohio; Boutwell, of Massachusetts.

The caucus adjourned to meet at the call of the Committee.

A man living at a village near Mobile, one night last week attempted to frighten some girls by wrapping a white cloth round his body and personating a ghost. All ran but one, who pulled out a revolver and deliberately fired six balls into the head and body. She then went home and related the circumstances, and parties returning to the spot found life completely extinct, two balls having penetrated the forehead, and the other four the region of the heart.

The Prussian needle gun, as all bear witness, has been wielded with a terrible effect, which has made a deep impression on the ill-armed Austrian troops. A military correspondent who saw the fighting at Podall declares that the Austrians who fell under the fire of infantry were, compared to the Prussians, six to one.

Punch's cartoon on the Fenian invasion is entitled "The Yankee Fireman Keeps his Word," and represents Canada, a young Miss in furs and armed, shooting at the invaders, while Jonathan, as a fireman, squirts cold water upon them, exclaiming, "You see I'm ready when wanted, Miss Canada."

Was it frank, fair or manly, quoth Raymond, to ask the Southern States to ratify the Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery, if we intended, after they accepted that condition, to keep them out of the Union?

MEMORIAL ORATION.—The oration of Gov. Graham, upon the life and character of the late Hon. Geo. E. Badger, was listened to with breathless attention and marked appreciation, by a large audience, in the Commons Hall, this morning. It occupied one hour and eighteen minutes in delivery, and was a masterly daguerreotype of one of North Carolina's favorite sons, by a masters's hand. It will be given to the public soon, and we shall have the pleasure of presenting it to our readers.

SLEEPING CARS ON THE N. C. RAILROAD.—On yesterday, we had the pleasure of inspecting one of the new sleeping cars recently placed on the North Carolina Railroad, to run with the mail train from Raleigh to Charlotte and return.

These cars are handsomely built and arranged, and furnished with due regard to the comfort of the travelling public. They were built at the shops of the Camden and Amboy R. R., and patented by Messrs. Van Rensselaer and Van Nortwick, of Bordentown, New Jersey. The cars are forty-nine by nine and-a-half feet inside, and will seat forty-four persons. Each car has wash room for ladies and gentlemen, furnished with bowls, towels, comb, brush, &c.—The seats are of the chair pattern, and at night sufficient inclination is given them to enable passengers to rest very comfortably.

Each car is under the care of a special conductor, and a porter is always in readiness to attend to the wants of passengers. Mr. Phillips, who is well known to the travelling public as conductor on the N. C. R. R., and Mr. T. S. Stevens, who kindly showed us the arrangement of the cars, are the conductors.

Mr. E. Wilkes, Superintendent of the road, is displaying great energy in providing for the comfort of the travelling public, and we hope his efforts will meet with the encouragement which they so well deserve.

LOST.—A Lady's black thread-lace veil, on the Tarboro road, between town and Governor Manly's plantation. A suitable reward will be paid for its return to Col. Carr's Headquarters.

MR. BRYANT'S LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—We hope that our citizens will not forget Mr. Bryant's Lecture to-night, which will be delivered at the Chapel of the N. C. Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and the Blind. SUBJECT: Satan; his origin and appearance.

In order that this Lecture may be properly understood by the public, they are assured that it is neither burlesque nor infidel,—neither a common-place view nor a poetic rhapsody. It is, on the contrary, a legitimate examination into the origin and nature of this great power of evil. It embraces the following points:

1. It was no serpent, nor any other secondary animal, that tempted Eve.
2. It was not an evil spirit taking the body of an animal as an instrument.
3. Satan is not a fallen angel from Heaven, and the Bible teaches no such thing.
4. The Devils are a race, having their connection with the earth, in their origin and action, &c., &c.
5. There is no conflict between the teachings of science and the teachings of the Bible.

Mr. Bryant is a gentleman of unquestioned genius, and a brilliant and able lecture may be expected.

Doors open at 8 o'clock. Admission 50 cents. Tickets may be had at the Book and Drug Stores.

REVIVAL.—The Wilmington Dispatch says that the revival in the Fifth Street E. M. Church, in that city, is still progressing, without the least sign of abatement or loss of interest. On Sunday last the number of penitents exceeded that of any previous meeting.

A CHILD OF THE REGIMENT.—When Sherman's army stopped at Smithfield, in this State, about fifteen months since, there was found with it a little girl, five or six years of age, of bright countenance and pleasant ways, evidently well-bred thus far, who, the soldiers said, followed them from South Carolina. Georgia or Tennessee. The corps to which this little girl seemed attached camped near the house of a lady who had a little girl of nearly the same age, and the two little ones became so fondly attached, that the lady induced the soldiers to give the child to her and she has been with her ever since. The child has dark eyes, and is quite pretty. She had been so long with the army that she could give no intelligent account of her home. The lady who has possession of this little wanderer is very much attached to her, and treats her in every respect as her own daugther.

Parties interested are referred to the "Baptist Minister," Smithfield, Johnson county, North Carolina. The papers of South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee are requested to copy this information.

NEWS BY THE MAILS.

The Tennessee Legislature.

The Senate of Tennessee has passed a resolution ratifying the Reconstruction Amendment, but the members of the lower House, who support the Convention which is to meet in Philadelphia in August, have bolted, leaving that body without a quorum. The Nashville Press of Friday gives the following account of the situation in that body on Thursday last:

"The story of yesterday's proceedings in the House of Representatives differed so little from that of the previous days, that their record might be appropriately repeated. The Sergeant-at-arms has been making diligent search for the fugitive members. He reports Martin, Williams, Marable, Dunaway and Foster as having left for home. Messrs. Brittle and Porter, of Henry, were in the city, but had changed their rooms, and could not be found. There were fifty-three members in the House yesterday, but appearances strongly indicated that if three additional ones had entered the hall, several others would have slipped from their seats and dodged out. 'There is a Gordian knot in the House, and it is useless to waste time in trying to untie it. 'Let it be cut by the keen sword of a solemn duty imposed by the august voices of the American Congress. The spirit of disorganization and nullification grows bolder by delay, and seeks to repeat the outrages of 1861. The instruments of that fell spirit now in our Legislative Council are emboldened by the knowledge that the President is in full sympathy with them."

Governor Brownlow was anxious to have said Gordian knot cut by the military sabre of General Thomas, but that, as was seen by the telegram of the Secretary of War published yesterday, Mr. Stanton put a peremptory stop to the fun.

From Charleston---The Prisoners Held by General Sickles---Important Decision in the United States Court.

CHARLESTON, July 16.—The prisoners confined in Castle Pinckney have not yet been surrendered to the civil authorsties, and military law, therefore, continues supreme. This is regarded as most surprising, in view of the fact that assurances had been given that the President would see that the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Bryan was obeyed.

Judge Bryan, in the United States Court, today, declared that the existence of peace, and President Johnson's proclamation of April 2, declaring the suppression of the insurrection, revoke President Lincoln's proclamation of 1863, and that every citizen is entitled to the benefits of the writ of habeas corpus.

JOHNSON MEN IN EAST TENNESSEE.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., July 16.—The Johnson men have called a meeting, to be held at Knoxville on the 26th. instant, to select delegates for the Congressional districts in East Tennessee for the Philadelphia Convention. They are active and enthusiastic.

Codification of the Laws.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The following gentlemen have been selected as members of the commission to revise and codify the statutes of the United States, in accordance with an act of Congress recently passed: Caleb Cushing, of Massachusetts, Judge Johnson, of Ohio, and Return J. Meigs, of Washington.

The Veto Message.

As was to be expected, the second edition of the odious Freedmen's Bureau bill has been returned to Congress with the President's objections. The message reciting these objections is clear and convincing to every unprejudiced mind. At the moment of its presentation Congress was evidently in a particularly bad humor towards the President. The proceedings of the conspirators' caucus, Saturday night, did not help to put them in a good humor. They were greatly irritated against each other, but the President was regarded as the common enemy, and so soon as his veto message upon the Freedmen's Bureau bill was presented, without waiting to consider any objection, they hurried it through by their two-thirds majority vote. It was of no consequence what arguments the message contained. Though the most conclusive ever presented to reasoning men, the results would have been the same. The majority in Congress had determined to oppose the President, and, right or wrong, they were bound to oppose him. There was no necessity even for reading the veto message. No one listened to it. Not one-third of those who voted against it know at this moment what it contained.—They had made up their minds to oppose the President, and oppose him they did.

The majority in Congress was utterly deaf to any reasoning upon any bill they were determined to pass. They had promised, if the President vetoed the bill, "they would pass it so quick as to make his head swim." They did pass it so quickly that the heads of many who voted for the ultimate passage of the bill thus inconsiderately will swim until they get back to their constituents, when they will sink forever out of sight and out of mind of the political world, except as notable examples of perversity in sacrificing public interests to private pique. —National Intelligencer.

THE FIRST ARREST UNDER GENERAL GRANT'S LAST ORDER.—On Saturday, Mr. J. H. Keene, a Northern man, who resided north of the Potomac during the war, and came here about six months ago, was arrested and carried off to Richmond, to be detained "in military confinement until a proper judicial tribunal may be ready and willing to try him."

It seems that some days ago a negro was passing under the window of Mr. Keene's tin shop, on or near whom Mr. K., unintentionally, threw an old quid of tobacco; the negro, in an insolent and threatening manner, asked Mr. K. "who the h—ll he was throwing his tobacco on." Some words passed, the negro cursed him, and he picked up a small hammer and ran after him; overtaking the negro, he asked what he meant by his impudence, and the negro repeated his impudence and threatened fight, whereupon Mr. K. give him a few cracks with the hammer.

Would not General Grant or General Terry have punished the negro in some way under the same provocation?

The negro was insolent to the magistrate in his conduct when demanding a warrant; was proved by one negro and one white man, who heard the quarrel, to have made a false statement in regard to his conduct in the beginning, had not been hurt by the punishment, and was really the party first in fault. The magistrate, thinking it unnecessary to grant a warrant, 'failed' to do so. On the negro's statement, we suppose, Mr. K. was arrested, taken from his business and carried to military confinement.—Fredericksburg News.

Little Mame's father is generally too busy to attend the weekly prayer meeting. One day she was discussing the great hereafter with her mamma, when the following dialogue ensued:

Mame—"Mamma, will you go to Heaven when you die?"

Mamma—"Yes, I hope so, child."

Mame—"Well, mamma, I hope I'll go too, for you'll be lonesome."

Mamma—"Oh, I hope your papa will go too."

Mame—Oh, no, papa can't go; he can't leave the store.

The King decorated the Prince on the field of battle with the order of military merit.

No Family at the South Should be Without Them.

The late Col John Wright, of Goldsboro', N. C. Aug. 14, 1862, says: "I have used the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS in my family here, and also on my plantation in Alabama, and always with success. I have a valuable servant girl who had been a long time under treatment for consumption without receiving any benefit. Almost in her extremity I was induced to try the Hepatic Pills. A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Uicerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disenfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

are now thoroughly introduced in the State of North Carolina, and can be obtained of all enterprising, first class druggists.

They act as a tonic to all debilitated systems, taken in doses of

One Pill Three Times A Day,

before meals, and should be found in every family residing in miasmatic districts.

To any skeptic or one who does not believe in these marvellous preparations,

A Box Will be sent Free

If he is not cured with one and not more than two boxes, no charge will be made. The price of the Pills is high—say but as they are a perfect cure without trouble or in convenience, the charge is reasonable enough.

Address J. MAGGIEL, M. D., 43 Fulton St., New York.

CAUTION.

Watch narrowly and guard yourselves vigilantly against counterfeits. I have just suppressed a notorious counterfeit in Wisconsin, after much trouble and expense. Purchase of only first class druggists and never of peddlers or traveling dealers.
